

BOMBARDMENT ADRIANOPOLE MAY REFIN MUNDAY NIGHT

Turkey Replies Note by Powers, but Ali-lies Declare Inacceptable;
Yet Some Hope for Peace

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The curtain may rise on the second act of the Balkan war next Monday. The allies denounced the armistice at 7 o'clock tonight and if events take the prescribed course, the bombardment of Adrianople will follow after an interval of four days. Indeed, the bombardment has been scheduled for 7 o'clock Monday evening.

Yet even at this eleventh hour, war in no wise is assured. Only a few hours before the allies proclaimed their momentous decision, the Ottoman government presented its reply to the joint note of the powers of January 17. The Young Turks who seized the government with shouts of defiance have undergone a marvelous transformation. They offer a compromise which comes so near meeting the Bulgarian demands that a settlement should not be impossible, and this leaves the Aegean islands to the disposition of the powers.

The difference between what Constantinople is ready to give and what Bulgaria is willing to accept has been reduced to such small proportions that even some of the Balkan delegates believe a compromise may yet be found. Bulgaria always meant to leave the Aegean islands to Turkey, and even to confer the right of extra territoriality, thus giving them something of the status of the Vatican in Rome.

Thracian Frontier Agreed To.
The Thracian frontier line, therefore, with the exception of the town of Adrianople, practically has been agreed to, as Turkey is ready to leave to the powers the disposition of the land on the right bank of the Maritza river, which conditions, as is known, the allies are satisfied to accept. The question of the Aegean islands also practically has been solved, as the powers are disposed to leave their settlement to the powers.

Is Bold Assertion.
Dr. Danel, head of the Bulgarian delegation, said with reference to Turkey's reply:
"It is not of a character to form the basis for fresh negotiations."
This, however, simply is a public statement. The ambassadorial conference will meet tomorrow morning to consider the powers' reply.

Alfies Give Notice.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 30.—The powers have protested to the powers against the denunciation of the armistice by the Balkan allies.

Home Rule Rejected
BY HOUSE OF LORDS

Vote Stands 326 Against and 69 for; Scene Lacking in Dramatic Fervor

LONDON, Jan. 30.—After a four days' discussion the house of lords rejected the home rule bill tonight, 326 to 69. The result was a foregone conclusion.

The speeches aroused little interest, because, as the Earl of Halsbury pathetically observed, the position of the house was now that of an ordinary debating club—the peers could express their views and reject the bill, but they could not prevent it from becoming law.

Nevertheless, the largest muster of peers since the fateful evening they passed the parliament bill assembled in the house and hejewed peeresses thronged the side galleries.

Lord Lansdowne wound up the debate for the opposition, and Lord Morley of Blackburn for the government. The scene was lacking in the dramatic excitement which accompanied the lords' rejection of Mr. Gladstone's bill in 1893 by a larger majority, 375.

Ferocity Lacking.
Lord Morley, in closing the debate, remarked upon the absence of the ferocity which characterized the debates on the Gladstone measures and, replying to Lord Lansdowne's warning, that the giving of home rule to Ireland would be a menace to England if England ever were involved in serious international troubles, reminded Lord Lansdowne that his own land policy would give Ireland cash or credit to the extent of £200,000,000 in British money, and that Lord Lansdowne scarcely would be likely to do that if he really believed that Ireland was likely to become England's enemy.

COLORADO MAY OPPOSE SEC.

FISHER

Congressman Taylor Urges Gov. Ammons to Protest Reappointment

ADAMS STANDS POOR SHOW

Both Houses Are in Session Until Midnight to Get All Bills In

DENVER, Jan. 30. In a letter addressed to Governor Elias M. Ammons, Congressman Edward Taylor of Colorado, declares President-elect Wilson has given him a general impression that Secretary of the Interior Fisher is to be reappointed. The letter urges Governor Ammons to send a vigorous protest against the appointment to Governor Wilson.

In that connection, Governor Ammons said:
"The only reason a protest has not already been sent against the reappointment of Secretary Fisher is because I never dreamed such an appointment possible. Fisher would be unsatisfactory to the west in every way."

Congressman Taylor wrote that when he visited President-elect Wilson in behalf of former Governor Alva Adams of Colorado, for the position of secretary of the interior, he was given to understand that the president-elect did not approve the suggestion. He stated that Mr. Wilson did not indicate his approval of the Pinchot conservation policy in the west.

Will Forward Protest.
Governor Ammons stated today that he would forward a protest immediately to Governor Wilson in connection with Secretary Fisher's reappointment. The senate today in two executive sessions decided to "bury political differences" in order to place Colorado on a sound business basis. Governor Ammons let it be known that he, too, intends to forget politics and work with the legislature as if it were a board of directors for the state to the end that the state's finances might be materially strengthened.

The Hocker resolution was passed in the senate this afternoon, calling for an investigation into the finances of the state highway commission.

Thomas Tully Resigns.
Just previous to the passage of the Hocker resolution, calling for investigation of the highways commission, Thomas Tully, a member of that board, presented his resignation to Governor Ammons. No specific reason for resigning was given by Tully.

The senate today postponed hearing on the Barlow-Wyoff contest from Las Animas county, from Monday until Wednesday. Sergeant-at-Arms C. E. Goodfriend left today for Trinidad, where he will subpoena witnesses, and to fetch the ballot boxes from the districts wherein fraud is alleged to have been committed.

JURY FOR DARROW TRIAL IS COMPLETE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—The jury which is to hear the evidence in the second trial of Clarence S. Darrow, the Chicago labor lawyer, for alleged jury bribes in the McNamara case, was completed today. As in the first trial, it consists of 12 men, the odd number sitting as an alternate in readiness to take the seat of any regular juror who may become incapacitated.

After the reading of the indictment, charging bribery of Robert E. Bain, to influence his vote for the acquittal of James B. McNamara, adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

TERRY PLEADS GUILTY; GETS FROM 19 TO 20 YEARS

ARRON, Jan. 30.—George Terry, who today changed his plea from "not guilty" of the charge of having murdered Stuart Lantierman, three months ago, was sentenced late this afternoon to "from 19 to 20 years" in the state penitentiary. The trial was the culmination of a long-standing feud in the southwestern part of Washington county, and the death of Lantierman was brought about indirectly through domestic difficulties.

CONGRESSMAN LEGATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA IS DEAD

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 30.—George S. Legate, congressman from the First South Carolina district, died at his home here tonight. Mr. Legate was 43 years old, and entered the fifty-eighth congress.

JAMES H. BERRY DIES

BENTONVILLE, Ark., Jan. 30.—James H. Berry, former United States senator from Arkansas, and former governor of the state, died at his home here today after a long illness.

GOVT. OWNERSHIP COMING-BRISBANE

URGES SUPPORT PARCEL POST SYSTEM

Notable Gathering of Railroad Traffic Men at Pittsburg Club Banquet

PITTSBURG, Jan. 30.—When George A. Pike of New York, president of the Railway Business Association, addressed the traffic men at the Pittsburg club banquet tonight, he urged government ownership of the railroads.

Mr. Pike, who came in private from New York, Chicago and St. Louis, presided over the gathering of the leading railroad executives of the country. The banquet addresses were made by Pike, Henry E. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania, and a number of other prominent railroad men.

Mr. Brisbane asked the guests to lend their assistance in obtaining a parcel post system, which would increase their revenue, and declared that government ownership was a matter of time.

Politicians Too Dishonest.
Politicians of today, said Mr. Brisbane, are too dishonest to be trusted with the management of the railroads. He urged the United States to take over the railroads and operate them for the benefit of the people.

Mr. Brisbane declared that the railroads were opposing the free passage of coastwise ships through the Panama canal, and urged for their own good to forsake that policy.

Castro Barred From America

SEC. NAGEL ORDERS HIS DEPORTATION

Refused to Answer Questions; Therefore Not Entitled to Admission

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Mariano Castro, former president of Venezuela, was today denied admission to the United States as a visitor, by Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor. The Venezuelan's unwavering refusal to answer the question whether, while president of his country, he was a party to the killing of General Paredes was the cause of Secretary Nagel's order for his deportation.

The cabinet minister sustained the adverse report of the immigration authorities against Castro on the ground that his declaration to answer "may" in itself constitute an admission by conduct of the commission of a felony.

The secretary held that the murder of Paredes was not a purely political crime.

Further, the secretary said that an alien was compelled to answer "yes" to the question.

ROBBINS WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE

Denies Rumor That He Will Run for Mayor—Names of Other Possible Candidates Mentioned

R. G. Robbins will not be a candidate for mayor this spring, nor will he be a candidate for any other position. This is the announcement made yesterday by him to quiet certain rumors of his candidacy that have been going the political rounds by the last few weeks.

"I will not allow my name to be mentioned as a possible candidate. I need all my time to attend to my business, and I will not run for any office," said Mr. Robbins.

However, the political bee has been buzzing elsewhere, and several other names have been mentioned for city positions. For mayor, Commissioner A. J. Lawson, City Attorney C. L. McKesson, Frank Wolff, C. E. Thomas and O. P. Grimes are being spoken of. Commissioner Himebaugh, it is understood, will be a candidate to succeed himself, while several of the above may run for commissioner positions.

If the mayor's office does not seem suitable, a mayor and two commissioners will be elected at the spring election.

NATIONALISTS WIN CLOSE

CONTEST

Sick and Dying Are Taken to Londonderry Polls

Londonderry, Ireland, Jan. 30.—The nationalists won a close contest in the Londonderry polls today.

GREAT PRIZE IS AT STAKE

Was One of Most Exciting Elections Ever Held in Ireland

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, Jan. 30.—The contest for the Londonderry seat in the House of Commons was one of the most exciting elections ever held in Ireland.

In spite of the fact that the nationalists were outnumbered by the unionists, the nationalists won the seat by a narrow margin.

The nationalists' victory was due to the fact that the unionists were divided among themselves.

The nationalists' candidate, Mr. G. Hogg, was elected by a majority of 14 over the unionist candidate, Mr. H. A. Pakenham.

The nationalists' victory was a great triumph for them, as it was the first time they had won the seat since 1892.

CABINET MAKEUP NOT YET KNOWN

WILSON STILL SILENT OVER PERSONNEL

It Will Not Be Filled With College Presidents, He Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—President-elect Wilson is still silent regarding the makeup of his cabinet.

Asked today by a reporter whether he would fill his cabinet with college presidents, Mr. Wilson declared that he would not.

He said that he would select men who were experienced in public affairs, and who were capable of handling the duties of the cabinet.

4 BURN TO DEATH IN CHICAGO FIRE

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Three men and one woman were burned to death, three men were seriously injured and a dozen others suffered lesser hurts in a fire which early today destroyed the Iowa hotel, a four-story brick structure at 320-322 North Clark street.

The hotel was a cheap affair, which had only wooden cots for beds and was above a saloon. All of the dead were found in the rooms they had occupied. The dead:

JAMES O'GARA, 29 years old, New Haven, Conn.

B. BENJAMIN, 40 years old, home unknown.

JAMES LOVE, barber, 36 years old, 117 Marion street, Oak Park, Ill.

PEARL CLARK, also known as Wilson, 27 years old.

When firemen arrived clouds of smoke were coming from every window. It was their theory that those who lost their lives had been awakened but were unable to find their way out of the building. The loss was estimated at $15,000. No cause was given for the fire.

ROBIN FAILS TO ESCAPE OFFICIAL "MUG" ARTIST

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Joseph G. Robin failed today to escape the roving gallery camera man at police headquarters, although Joseph B. Hechman, William J. Cummins and Charles H. Hyde, who were convicted largely on Robin's testimony, were spared the ordeal. Handcuffed to "Bull" Jennings, a notorious criminal, Robin was photographed and "finger printed." He was then sent away to begin his prison term of one year for bank wrecking. Police Commissioner Waldo explained yesterday after the failure to photograph Hechman, Cummins and Hyde had been brought out by an investigating committee that the prisoners had never been in the custody of the police, but were held by the district attorney's office.

Automatic telephones will be installed in the New Zealand cities of Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch and Dunedin.

EXPRESS CAR CATCHES ON FIRE; $50,000 LOSS

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 30.—Fire broke out near here today in the last car of a through train of express cars speeding from Boston to New York. The express messenger, after a vain effort to put out the flames, pulled the emergency brakes, but the mechanism failed to work, and he was unable to get word of his plight to the cars in front. Within a few minutes he was compelled to choose between death in the flames and a leap from the door. He jumped as the train rounded a curve at 35 miles an hour and escaped with only slight injuries.

The flames were discovered when the train stopped here for water and were extinguished by the local fire department. The damage to the car and its contents was estimated at $50,000.

M'NICHOLAS MAKES FULL CONFESSION OF GUILT

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—James McNicholas, under indictment at Cleveland for alleged fraudulent use of the mails in the sale of Idaho and Oregon mining stocks today admitted his identity and made a full statement regarding his dealings according to Postal Inspector Gray. He agreed to make a full disclosure. Inspector Gray said that the prisoner told him that his brother, R. T. McNicholas, under a similar indictment, was in Scotland, where the two had planned to meet. McNicholas had planned a big deal in Boston and had expected to conclude it today.

"END OF FRATS IN HIGH SCHOOLS NEAR," GROVER

DENVER, Jan. 30.—John C. Grover of Kansas City, president of the Phi Lambda Epsilon high school fraternity today arrived in Denver for the announced purpose of annulling the charters held by local chapters in four Denver high schools. This action is said to have resulted from the fight of the Denver school board against high school fraternities. Mr. Grover stated that the "end of frats in high schools" was inevitable.

STEEL TRUST HEARING IS ADJOURNED UNTIL FEB. 10

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Hearings in the suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation were adjourned until February 10. While the government attorneys practically rested their case today with the introduction of documentary evidence, they reserved the right to call other witnesses on that date. The documentary evidence pertained to the financing of the American Steel & Wire company and to the so-called "Jackson wire pools."

Counsel for the corporation stated that their side would probably not be completed before Feb. 10. Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation, James A. Farish, president, and H. C. Frick, a director, may be called by the defense.

greater importance provides that the governor may make an examination of any office at any time, and if he finds that the appropriation for that office has been exhausted he may suspend its operations, thus preventing the issuing of excess warrants that become a debt of the state and create a deficit for the next assembly to pay.

County Bills Reported.
The house committee on counties and county laws finally presented a favorable report upon the Ammons county bill, thereby transferring the fight upon that bill to the assembly, for its opponents have not given up the contest.

Similar action is predicted for the Hughes county bill, which proposes to cut a slice off of the northern part of Las Animas county. The committee sat until 11 tonight hearing arguments for and against this measure.
Under the guise of an executive session, a senate caucus, to which Progressives and Republicans, as well as Democrats, were invited, was held today, the matter under consideration being the road appropriation bills. A Democratic caucus had reached an agreement not to introduce any "pork barrel" bills, but to depend upon a general appropriation to the highways commission. Several road and bridge bills, however, were introduced during the day, and it was regarded as certain that a general law would be sent to the referendum.

CASTRO BARRED

entitled to admission.
The alleged information against Castro was furnished the department of commerce and labor by the state department and Secretary Nagel, in his decision, frankly admits that, but for the state department's action, Castro probably would have been permitted without question.

"Cipriano Castro's former position as president of Venezuela," he added, "would, under ordinary circumstances, have furnished further inducement for such action."
It is charged officially, said Mr. Nagel, "that Castro, while president of Venezuela, and in full possession of the authority of that state, directed the killing of Parades without trial or hearing of any kind. Parades having been made a prisoner while engaged in a revolt against Castro."

The secretary admitted that decisions in extraordinary cases seem to hold that such a crime would be political, "although this view has been questioned by high authority." Consideration, he added, however, must be given to the fact that the alleged offense was not committed by a person engaged in a revolution against constituted authority, but the president of the republic in full control of the authority of the state, who denied the benefit of the very law he was charged to preserve.

Involves Moral Turpitude.
"I cannot assume," said Mr. Nagel, "that any act of violence, committed by the highest authority of the state during a disturbance in disregard of constituted authority must, under all circumstances, be regarded as purely political, and not involving moral turpitude. If such a conclusion were to be accepted, then burning at the stake, or subjecting a victim to torture, or, indeed, any offense committed by any official in charge would satisfy the exception, provided the act is committed during political excitement and against a participant."

Regarding the right of an alien to refuse to answer questions to determine his admissibility, the secretary holds that the recognition of that privilege would result in the admission of all aliens because of the failure of proof against them.
"The alien is not in a criminal court, where he might stand upon his rights, and refuse to make a confession," concluded the secretary. "He is before an administrative body, asking for the privilege to enter, and he is under the necessity of qualifying for that purpose."

EQUAL SUFFRAGE PASSED BY NEVADA LEGISLATURE

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 30.—The equal suffrage amendment passed the senate today by a vote of 19 to 5. Senators Ellis, Democrat, and Mills, Republican, were of those opposed, made speeches in which they declared they would be glad to support the measure if they thought the women of Nevada really want suffrage, but that they felt sure the amendment would be defeated when it comes before the people, and therefore voted against it.
The amendment is now in shape to be submitted to a vote of the people. Last Friday the lower house passed the resolution by a vote of 45 to 5, with two absent, so that the total opposition in a legislature of 75 has been six votes.
The constitution provides for the submission of the proposed amendment to the people by the legislature in the manner and time as prescribed by the legislature.
No provision has been made as yet for this submission. The suffrage leaders announce that they will ask for a law directing the submission to the people at a special election. The next general election is in November, 1914.

HENRY W. SAVAGE FLAYS THE DRAMATIC CRITIC

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Henry W. Savage, the theatrical producer, delivered a round attack tonight upon New York dramatic critics at the annual "hobby night" of the National Press club.
"Rather than an honest criticism," he said, "the critic searches for a nail upon which to hang some clever sentence by which he expects to enhance his own popularity. The automobiles are taking theatergoers from the orchestra seats, vaudeville takes them from the balcony, and the movies take them from the gallery. And the movies are thriving without the critic."
Dr. William A. White, superintendent of the government hospital for the insane, made a plea for the extension of facilities of such institutions.
"The public health service," he said, "with its quarantine laws and campaign for health, has increased the span of this generation's life at least 10 years. Now we should learn how to live these 10 years well."

Suffragists Want to Get Locked Up With Strike Girls

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Suffragists are planning to get locked up with strike girls in the city jail, as a protest against the treatment of the women who are striking for better wages and conditions.
The women are being treated very harshly by the police, and the suffragists are determined to show the public that they are not the only ones who are being treated unfairly.
The women are being locked up in the city jail, and the suffragists are planning to get locked up with them, as a protest against the treatment of the women who are striking for better wages and conditions.

BOMBARDMENT ADRIANOPLE

spirit of compromise in its reply to the note handed to it by the representatives of the European powers on January 17. The response was presented today by Mahmud Sherif Pasha, the grand vizier to Margrave Johann von Pallavicini, dean of the diplomatic corps in the Turkish capital.

The Porte stipulates for the retention by Turkey of those quarters of the fortress of Adrianople in which the holy shrines are situated. It proposes to leave in the hands of the powers the disposal of the land on the right bank of the Maritza river which runs through Adrianople. At the same time the Ottoman government consents to the dismantling of the fortifications of that city.

In reference to the Turkish islands in the Aegean sea, the document insists on the maintenance of Turkish sovereignty, owing to the proximity of the islands to the Turkish mainland, but it intimates the readiness of the Ottoman government to leave the settlement of the insular regime to the powers. The reply takes note of the promises made by the European powers in their joint communication respecting the giving of aid in the future development of the territory of the Turkish empire.

The religious and historical grounds which compel the Porte to stand out for the retention at all events of that portion of Adrianople containing the sacred shrines, are recapitulated at the end of the reply, which is a lengthy document of four pages written in French.

Note Not Accepted.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—"Emphatically the Turkish reply to the note of the European powers is not acceptable," was the comment made by Dr. Danoff, leader of the Bulgarian delegation when he was shown the terms of the Ottoman responses. He continued:

"Speaking on behalf of the allies, I say the Turkish reply is not of a character to form the basis of fresh negotiations. We have said that the fortress of Adrianople and the Turkish islands in the Aegean sea must be ceded and without this the negotiations will not be resumed."
"Moreover this session must be made before war is resumed and the first shot will change our condition."

Resumption of War Certain.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—The Bulgarian minister of finance, T. Theodoroff, who is on his way to Sofia from the London peace conference, declared today that he regards the resumption of war between the Balkan allies and Turkey as certain. "The first engagement," he added, "probably will open next Wednesday."
"At the expiration of the armistice," M. Theodoroff said, "the allies will press the siege of the fortress of Adrianople until that place falls, simply holding the Turks in check at Thessalonika. After the fortress has been taken all the Bulgarian siege material will be transported south to the Thessalonika fortifications."
"Bulgaria has lost 25,000 men killed since the war broke out and half the domestic animals of the country are gone. The Bulgarian government is now maintaining 550,000 men in military service."

THREATENED ATTACK ON JUAREZ IS FALSE ALARM

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 30.—All rebel forces disappeared late today from the vicinity of Juarez, now reinforced by any fear of an attack. In addition to 300 infantry on railway patrol trains coming in early in the day, 500 irregular cavalry under Col. Manuel Landu arrived tonight. This leaves more than 1,000 government troops in the border town.

The cavalry came from the vicinity of Ahumada, selected by the federal government as the place of the proposed peace conference.

They arrived over the Mexican Central railway, which has been repaired temporarily from Ahumada to the border. The Mexico Northwestern railway remains closed below Juarez, and rebels today burned more bridges on the English-Canadian line to within a few miles of Juarez.

All is reported quiet along the border patrolled by United States troops out of Fort Bliss. With the El Paso Juarez port still closed, owing to the uncertainty of all-railway traffic, the United States customs department today closed the port of Columbus, N. M., for all entries.

The unsettled condition in the Casas Grandes district below the New Mexico line has resulted in much cattle stealings, and the American ranchmen requested that the Columbus port be closed until order could be restored.

Rangers Given Orders.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 30.—Gov. O. B. Colquitt, of Texas telegraphed today to Capt. John R. Hughes, in command of the Texas Rangers patrolling the Texas-Mexican boundary in the vicinity of Juarez, Mexico, to keep him advised of the situation and to "shoot straight if necessary."

CLOGGED BOWELS

Makes them cross, peevish, restless and feverish—See if tongue is coated.

Your child's waste is irritable and peevish. Examine the tongue. If coated it means the little one's stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its tiny feet at bowels clogged with food or aging waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectively, besides, they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break up a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without gripping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again.

With "Syrup of Figs" you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, sugar and aromatic it cannot be harmful.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

MISS KANE SAYS BOLLES
MADE PROFIT OF $138,832

Miss Agnes Kane, who was arrested yesterday for the alleged kidnapping of her four-year-old daughter, said today that she had made a profit of $138,832 in the sale of her daughter's likeness. She said that she had sold the rights to the likeness of her daughter to a number of people, and that she had received a total of $138,832 for the same. She said that she had also received a number of offers for the likeness of her daughter, but that she had refused them all.

BASS HORNS

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Sissah"

A bass horn is a brass instrument about five feet in diameter, through which it is possible for a person to breathe in such a manner as to be heard for half a mile on a calm day.

A bass horn is a good deal like some polka music. It is strong, enough when supported by the entire organization, but when it gets off by itself people laugh at it and decline with great regret to listen to its remarks.

The bass horn when skilfully operated produces a series of nicely graduated grunts, at the lower end of the musical scale which add richness and body to the general effect. To do this the operator must hold a small wind-storm in the little end of the instrument while tugging it over uneven streets and around corners, keeping step with the rest of the disturbers.

"Seven miles and six furlongs of melody."

and reading his music by the light of a flickering torch held by a boy who is having an animated quarrel with two jealous friends on the sidewalk. All this keeps the bass hornist occupied and prevents him from brooding in idleness. Very few maudlin or bass horns so wrong or indelicate in various habits while playing in the bank. They do not have time to do so.

The bass horn never travels in the front rank of the band and is seldom called upon by the conductor to make any remark by itself. It usually travels behind with the heavy baggage, but for all that it is indispensable and greatly beloved. If the bass horn were to turn the wrong corner and carry its performer down a side street, the entire band would come to a full stop and music would desert the air until the instrument could be found and herded back into place.

Playing the bass horn does not require a deep, vigorous intellect. A pair of versatile lips, bottomless lungs and broad, strong shoulders, which do not get easily, are more valuable. Bass horn performers usually begin to practice during their careless youth and before they know it, the habit has taken in its awful clutch. Very few bass horn players become president of the United States, because at critical moments in their career they must call the instrument about their shoulders and go forth into the cold world to blow seven miles and six furlongs of melody for some lodge, which is planting a departed member with full honors.

CRUDE OIL MAKES

FOURTH ADVANCE

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 30.—The fourth successive advance in crude oil was recorded when the South Pennsylvania Oil company announced its prices today. As on every other day this week, the price was lifted seven cents a barrel, bringing Pennsylvania crude to $2.33 and other grades to the following prices: Mercer black, Corning and New Castle, $1.85; Abell, $1.34; Somerset, $1.32. There was no change in Regland from 75c.

When the Standard Oil company of New Jersey was dissolved by order of the federal supreme court last year a number of smaller companies were organized in this territory and competition for crude oil for the new refineries has become pronounced.

For 14 months preceding the dissolution of the Standard, which took place December 15, 1911, Pennsylvania crude, on which the price of all oil is based by the purchasing agencies, had been quoted at $1.20 a barrel. Eleven days afterward the price was advanced five cents and then it became apparent that the purchasing agencies of the various Standard Oil subsidiaries had determined to force prices to a much higher level. The policy of such a move on five cents a barrel, they said, was continued until December 14, when the producer's desire was realized in the arrival of $2 oil. But it did not stop there; soon after the beginning of the new year another advance of five cents was recorded on January 6, and on January 27 seven cents was tacked on. From that time there have been daily advances of seven cents and oil men here today were predicting $2.50 oil by midsummer and $3 oil before the end of the year.

While it is realized that there is a scarcity of oil the movement this week has been so unusual that many persons feel that more than the legitimate demand underlies it. The effect of the advance has been the most pronounced in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio where many leases are being taken up and preparations are being made to begin drilling operations without waiting for the appearance of warm weather as is customary.

U. S. Senators Sneeze as They Hear Complaints

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In a pebbly atmosphere which kept senators at the sneezing point, representatives of manufacturers of flavoring extracts, spices and pepper appeared today before the senate manufacturers committee to ask that the "net weight bill" be amended so as to permit "reasonable variation." They produced samples to show that it was impossible to manufacture glass containers of precisely the same size.

"It seems to me a hardship and an unreasonable additional cost to require the man who sells peanuts at a ball park to have the weight marked on each package," declared Senator Oliver, chairman.

BIG EARTH SLIDES MAY

DELAY OPENING OF CANAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Recent slides of earth and rock into the Culabra cut will make necessary great activity if the Panama canal is to be opened before the end of the year, as has been predicted by Colonel Goethals. More than 50,000 yards of earth and rock have fallen into the cut this month, and engineers fear that another impending break at Purple hill will add not less than 1,000,000 yards.

For a long time the notorious Cucaracha slide, on the east bank of the canal, has been quiet, but on the afternoon of January 18, the earth movement began so rapidly as to carry away some of the dirt cars and completely covered all of the railroad tracks in the canal except one. Purple hill is holding back a tremendous amount of earth slowly moving towards the cut, but the hill is showing signs of weakness and should it break away the canal prism would be almost filled at that point.

The highest wireless tower in the world is located at Nauern, Germany. It is nearly a thousand feet high, and it is expected that the company can send messages as far as from Berlin to Chicago.

THE ART EXHIBIT

THE first public exhibit of the Colorado Springs Art society, which ended yesterday, was a notable event for several reasons. It is the first time, we believe, that a large collection of fine paintings by famous American artists has been brought to Colorado Springs for exhibition. Again, the extraordinary public interest in the display, as shown by the attendance, was a surprise even to the most enthusiastic of its promoters. The Chamber of Commerce rooms have been crowded almost every hour of the ten days of the exhibit. Approximately 11,000 people have visited the rooms and hundreds of these have come again and again. Indeed, it scarcely could have been predicted that the general public, embracing all classes and both young and old, would show such keen interest in an exhibit the drawing power of which is dependent solely on artistic merit.

Another noteworthy feature of this event has been the interest shown by children. Every day scores, and perhaps hundreds, of school children have visited the Chamber of Commerce rooms and listened attentively to the explanations given by Miss Shinn and other members of the society. Now at first thought it would seem that there is nothing particularly interesting to the average child in a landscape or a marine painting, but the experience of the last ten days has shown that a very great many school children were sufficiently interested not only to attend the exhibit once, but to ask questions and to make repeated visits. This fact certainly is of some significance, for there is no telling in how many childish minds—a germ has been planted which will later develop a cultivated taste for art and for the things which make for refinement.

The Art society is to be congratulated on the success of its venture and has every reason to feel elated over the plain evidence that it is doing something useful and elevating for which there was a real, though perhaps unsuspected, public demand. Now that this is made plain there ought to be a more general public support of the society in order that it may have the means to hold such exhibits frequently.

AN INDUSTRIAL POISON

A FEW days ago the New York dispatches told of the efforts of hotel and restaurant proprietors to curb the incendiary utterances of Ettor, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, directed to the striking waiters. Ettor was reported to have advised the waiters that if they returned to work they should see that the food which they served to capitalist patrons of the hotels and cafes be such as to impress them with the danger of eating in such places.

In a speech at Cooper Union a year ago William D. Haywood, another I. W. W. organizer, said:

"Can you wonder that I despise the law? I understand the class struggle. I am not a law-abiding citizen. More than that, I do not believe you here ought to be law-abiding citizens."

"Let us Socialists be frank. We want to overthrow the capitalist system and establish in its place an industrial democracy. Why, then, say we are law-abiding?"

In an article which appeared in the New York Independent of January 9, Andre Fridon, one of the ardent supporters of the Industrial Workers of the World, in stating the position of that organization, said:

"They do not recognize the employer's right to live any more than a physician recognizes the right of typhoid bacilli to thrive at the expense of a patient. The patient merely keeps alive."

These utterances clearly define the attitude of the Industrial Workers of the World toward the present industrial problem. They sound almost fantastic, and would scarcely be worthy of serious consideration if it were not for the important fact that the organization whose principles they are has within a few years attained a membership in this country running into the hundreds of thousands and has made itself an influence of tremendous power in American industry. The character and aims of this organization were succinctly stated by former Mayor Seth Low in an address before the National Civic Federation, of which he is president, in New York last Tuesday evening:

"The Industrial Workers of the World have an aim which is different from the aim both of the Socialists and the American Federation of Labor; and, because their aim is different, the methods which they advocate are different. The philosophy of the Industrial Workers of the World is that the agencies of production and distribution do not belong to those who now own them or to the state, but that, of right, they belong to the working men, who they claim, are the creators of all wealth."

This being so, they believe that the workers should seize them; themselves and operate the agencies of production and distribution. To this end, they believe in direct action, as distinguished from political action. They propose to organize the workers, if they can, not by trades, but, as they say, "by industries." This "industrial union," as they call it, would be a union comprising all the employees of a given establishment, so that, in case of a strike, the entire establishment could be tied up. They favor strikes, not for the purpose of improving the condition of the working men, but for the purpose of breaking down the wage system. They believe that workers should deliberately attempt to make production and distribution through private agencies impossible.

Accordingly, they favor "sabotage," and any other means which may be available to make private industry impossible under existing conditions. "Sabotage" is a word derived from the French word "sabot" (a wooden shoe), and it originated in a strike at Lyons, in which the workmen, on leaving a certain factory, took off their sabots and threw them into the most delicate parts of the machinery, in order to cripple the machinery so that it could not be run.

The preaching of such principles is nothing less serious than the preaching of anarchy. In the heat of conflict labor leaders have preached violence in the past, but we do not recall anything to compare in downright villainy with the open advocacy of the poisoning of hotel guests by waiters, or the doctrine that "an employer has no more right to live than typhoid bacilli."

If the solution of this problem were a matter of legislation it would be relatively easy, but unfortunately it embraces other and vastly more complicated factors. Just laws, rigidly enforced, can accomplish much toward the relief of the conditions which give rise to the unrest which in turn causes men to flock by thousands to the support of such leaders as Ettor and Haywood. But with better laws must come better conditions of work on the part of the employer, higher ideals of service on the part of the employee, and a broader spirit of toleration on the part of both. And unfortunately these things cannot be attained without a long period of public education—if, indeed, they are ever attained.

RAILWAY TRESPASSING

REPORTS of the Interstate Commerce Commission show that more than 50 per cent of all the people killed on the railroads of this country last year were trespassers—people who were walking on the tracks or riding on trains without right. More than 5,000 trespassers were killed during the year, an average of fourteen a day. Only 10 per cent of this number were tramps; 70 per cent were reputable people who used the railroad track as a thoroughfare, and 20 per cent were children under 14 years of age.

In a published statement an official of the Burlington says, "It is bad enough to run over grown-up trespassers, but cannot something be done to stop killing children?" Something can be done through the effort of parents to impress their children with the danger of playing about railroad tracks. Somewhere in the United States every day two or three children are killed because their parents have failed to impress them with this danger. It is a fearful price to pay for neglect.

DR. GARVIN'S REPLY.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
It has pained me to have my words concerning the Civic League so greatly misinterpreted, whether intentionally or through careless reading. There is not a word in my sermon concerning the character of anyone of the worthy women who constitute the membership of the League. I tried to make that so plain that the wayfaring man might not misunderstand. I did challenge the right of the League in its corporate capacity, to a place of moral leadership in the city, from its record on great racial issues in the past.

Not is there one word in the sermon to justify the fling at the assumption of superior morals by its author. He has been too conscious of his own weaknesses to set himself up as a judge of others, and certainly not of the individual members of the Civic League, some of whom have allowed themselves to be misled in what seems to be the church, a wrong attitude toward some triflingly important matter.

Regarding Rev. Mr. Robertson's attitude, I need only say that it creates no ripple of surprise. It is the traditional attitude of the denomination to which he belongs, neither less nor more.

SAMUEL GARVIN.

TAXES AND PROSPERITY.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The story of the man who, a few weeks ago, called upon the city council and wanted to present it with the deeds to his three properties, saying that the city was bound to get them anyhow for delinquent taxes, which he was unable to pay, because the properties could not support themselves in rentals, has set me to thinking, and to do some figuring along the line of city finances.

About the same time we read in the newspaper of the quandary that your mayor and city council were in over the matter of trying to make both ends meet in the city's expenses. Neither of these incidents were joking matters, and it might be well for all citizens to begin to do some serious thinking as to the way the wind blows.

Permit me to do a little ruminating; for I was a resident here 10, 15 years ago, and I can contrast the present with the past, with an interval of six years' nonresidence between. It is the same dear old town, with a few improvements added, 'tis true; but how inconsequential asphalt pavements and ornamental electric light standards are, after all, beside your climate and glorious vistas! Believe me, it is these, not your asphalt streets, that tourists and all others come to enjoy; and it will be these, plus the kind of hospitality, social life and educational facilities you display that alone will attract the desirable kinds of new residents to become citizens here! You don't need to spend your money lavishly for the common devices of other cities; and I doubt if it is wise.

I am afraid your "improvements" are costing you too heavily for what they really count to you. In 1911 your city government spent $781,431, and last year it probably amounted to considerably more. Contrast this with $447,080 spent in 1902, when the town was more prosperous and in every way equally desirable as a place of residence or business. People were just as happy then, and houses were more easily sold or rented at better prices than now. The population was smaller—about 25,000—as against 33,000 now—but somehow more money was in circulation and more freely spent among the shopkeepers. Several whom I knew then tell me that business don't compare now to what it was 10 years ago; and yet you are growing far more extravagant with less means to support it! Is that wise?

The bank clearings last year were $25,249,338, or less than they were six years ago by $654,688, notwithstanding the increase in your population; showing that more increase in numbers of people and houses does not necessarily imply real growth. The taxable property valuation was $8,850,000 10 years ago, and $12,354,000 now, and taxed to the limit; yet there is only a possible $247,088, derivable from taxes as against $781,439 spent in 1911; and because you are spending so far beyond your income you keep issuing bonds, thus tying up the future in order to buy some "improvements," which nobody, except the contractors, is especially better off for.

Last year you spent $165,000 to obtain two and one-half miles of asphalt pavements in the downtown district, making a bonded debt against the abutting property owners that may threaten many of them for years to come. And I am told that the city proposes to do a similar thing on one or more cross streets, quite against the local residents' protest. If such "improvement," at this rate, be extended much further it might have about the same ultimate effect as putting a torch to the city, for it is likely to bankrupt the inhabitants. You already have a bonded debt of $1,811,000. Some things, doubtless, are necessary, but it is so alluring to get anything which we think we want by resorting to new "bond issues," and where such tends to impoverish an already overburdened population, it seriously imperils the whole civic structure.

This is not written by way of criticism of the past, but as a caution signal for the future. I love the town where my health was restored and don't want to see it get into financial trouble.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
I noticed in The Gazette of January 29 a letter in the Open Parliament asking why The Gazette did not push the matter of municipal ownership of public utilities in Colorado Springs as it had apparently begun to do some time ago. It may be of interest to the writer of that letter to know that the Colorado Springs Open Forum will have an address on "Municipal Ownership in Colorado Springs" by H. H. Seidomridge, congressman-elect from this district, on next Sunday evening, February 3. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the High School building of the city. All persons are welcome.

Do You Believe in Ghosts?

By RUTH CAMERON.

Do you believe in ghosts? Is there anyone who hasn't discussed that fascinating question at one time or another? All our lives we have heard about the ghosts that visit haunted chambers and come crawling down winding stairways at midnight, and yet I doubt if there is one among my reader friends who could claim to have seen one. But there is another kind of ghost that most of us meet almost daily. I speak of those elusive, shadowy ghosts of thought which haunt that unexplored chamber of our personality, the subconscious mind.

You don't know what I mean? Well, let me describe one of these visits which, unlike the visits of the common ghosts, occur at any time of the day or night. You are sitting at your desk writing to a friend. Suddenly there comes into your mind the thought of a teacher you once had and the queer way she wore her front hair. You had not been thinking either of hair or teachers. You were writing to your friend, "Isn't it been a warm winter?" There was absolutely no connection between your thoughts and this queer memory that flitted into your mind. What was it, then, but a vague ghost of a thought that had been dwelling in the subconscious mind, and came for a moment to the door of your conscious mind?

A year or two ago I wrote about these queer, unfathered thoughts that come to all of us, and insisted that there was some connection, even if it were not immediately discernible; that if you hunted long enough you could find the link. I am writing this to retract that statement, for ever since then I have been continually haunted by thoughts of places and people that had absolutely no connection with what I was saying, feeling, thinking or doing. As I walk across the room to get a book, I will suddenly think of a little newspaper boy I knew when I was in newspaper work. As I sit at the breakfast table scanning the advertisements of furs, I will suddenly see in my mind's eye a little cottage where I spent a couple of days some 15 years ago.

Really, when you stop to think of it, isn't it almost as weird as being visited by ordinary ghosts to have these inexplicable specter thoughts stalk all unbidden into your mind?

I know there are people materialistic enough to deny the existence of the subconscious mind, but I don't understand their attitude. It seems to me there is no doubt that the subconscious mind is a tremendous power that exists within us, and if we could only utilize its force we could double our mental efficiency.

For in many ways the subconscious mind is superior to the conscious mind. For instance, my conscious mind cannot tell time without a clock, my subconscious mind can. I have never set an alarm for any time without being waked up just before the alarm went off by my subconscious mind.

"What on earth is all this about?" I can hear some materialistic and disgruntled reader exclaim. I know you won't believe me, my friend, but all this is about a force as real as valuable, and almost as well understood as the electricity that lights your house and runs your vacuum cleaner.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA
XV—CHRISTIANITY IN CHINA

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Christianity is the most vital force in changing China. It may not be more powerful in itself than any other element, but it is by long odds the liveliest factor in that interesting composite known as China and the Chinese people. It is a matter of dispute just how influential pure Christianity is. The term "pure Christianity" in the currency of oriental discussion means straight religious work, and it is doubted if mere theological preachments by the missionaries had as much to do with the official dropping of Confucianism as the basis of public office holding, as some Christian enthusiasts claim. Nevertheless, Christianity is the greatest force in China, and this is because of the system of western education which it gave to the Chinese. This opened their minds to the world outside, and the introspection which naturally followed showed them in turn the terrible narrowness of the cult of their ancestors. The Chinese have accepted the Christian schools and the Christian hospitals more readily than they have the Christian theology. This does not mean that Christianity has not grown in China. As a tenacity has not grown in China. As a tenacity has not grown in China. As a tenacity has not grown in China.

Protestant workers have done noble work which has been singularly successful when consideration is taken of the great difficulties encountered and surmounted. Only one who has felt the Gibraltarlike Chinese mind can appreciate the value of the apparently small results of Christian endeavor in the land of Cathay. It is not unlikely that from now on the cause of Christianity will grow mightily in comparison with the results of the past.

Early Entrance to China.

Disregarding the ancient Nestorian church, Roman Catholicism was the first western Christian sect to get in touch with what is now China and its outlying territory. Its first envoy to the Mongolians was John de Plano Carpini, who was sent by Pope Innocent IV in 1245 as a peace messenger to Khan Ogdai, at the Mongol conquests were very alarming to all of Europe. Carpini and his attendants were well received and were astonished to learn that two Nestorians of the kind were Greek Christians. The receipt of this news by the outside world came from monks from Babylon and Syria to journey to Mongolia. One Mongolian who was converted to Christianity, Aisla by name, became chief physician and astrologer to the great Kublai Khan, the Mongolian who really founded the city of Peking. This Aisla rose to the rank of Duke of the Byzantine empire and upon his death was dubbed Prince of Fuh-shin. Missionaries sent out by Louis IX encountered on the Volga river a band of Nestorians. On reaching the court of Mangus Khan they found Nestorian and Armenian priests there before them. Indeed, the Nestorian king had his bishops in China presided over by a bishop. This Mangus Khan was supposed for a while to be a Christian, but not being without a sense of humor, he decided to hold a "field day" in 1294 between the contending Catholics, Muslims, Taoists, Buddhists and Nestorians. The Catholic Daniel Webster downed all his opponents except the Taoist. Thereupon Mangus said to the Catholics:

"We Tartars recognize one God, at whose back we live and die, and to whom our hearts are always converted. But just as God has given us eyes and fingers to our hands, so has he graciously granted to men and ways leading to celestial bliss. You have now seen some time in our realm."

take steps toward returning to your own country."

First Catholic Mission.

Nevertheless, in 1271, the great Kublai Khan wrote to Pope Nicholas III asking for 100 priests and scholars who could teach art and translate strange documents. At the same time, however, he made a Nestorian governor of Chin-kiang fu. In 1285 the first Catholic mission to be permanent in China was founded in Peking by the Franciscan Bishop John de Montecorvino, and in 1307 Pope Clement V made him archbishop and primate of the far east, and two bishops were sent out to extend the work which Nestorianism still opposed vigorously. Buddhism was also strong, and there is some evidence wrapped in a volume of claims that the Catholics were cruelly persecuted by the Muslims under the last Khan, Toghrul Timur, who flourished from 1330 to 1370.

The succeeding 300 years of native Chinese rule, the Ming dynasty, blanks Christianity for that period. Saint Francis Xavier was inspired to go to China from Japan in an attempt to spread the faith. He died miserably of fever on a small island near Canton, saying, "O rock, rock! When will thou open?" A dent was made a little later when the Portuguese contrived to get their hands on the island of Macao. To the Jesuits goes the credit of establishing the first permanent post. This was done by the priests Pao and Ruggieri, learned, clever, courteous men who, with the later assistance of Matteo Ricci, the profound mathematician, were able to extend operations over a goodly portion of south China. In 1605 Ricci set out from Hangchow for Peking, reaching there after six years of toil and obstruction. He converted even the prime minister in Peking and became superior of all the Jesuits in China. From Ricci and his successors the Chinese at that time learned a great deal about astronomy, geography, architecture and art.

Made Great Progress.

By 1699 Catholicism had progressed so far, despite a number of reverses, that over 300,000 Chinese were in the fold, the emperor shared with King Louis XIV of France in building a magnificent cathedral in the palace grounds, and the question of China becoming officially Christian was seriously discussed.

A long fight over just how much of Chinese forms should be allowed in the rites of the church, in which the Spaniards and Dominicans from Manila would not agree to the compromising views of the Jesuits, lost forever this great chance to Catholicism. War followed between Chinese emperors and popes. In 1700, hundreds of Chinese Catholics were massacred and over 300 churches were destroyed or turned into temples, and the priests who were not killed were exiled. From that time on Catholicism had its ups and downs in China as far as officialdom was concerned, but the membership grew steadily. The Tiananmen massacre of 1870 was aimed at them and many helpless nuns were killed. Gerard, minister of France to Peking, from 1832 to 1857, did much to restore the prestige of the church in China. Until a short time before the revolution of 1911, French Catholic bishops were accorded all the honors of a vicar. This, together with interference with native courts in behalf of a Catholic Chinese, of which Protestants were likewise guilty at times, has always caused hostility among the Chinese. At the present time there are about 150,000 native Catholics and 15,000 churches or chapels. As a rule the native Catholics stood the test of their faith during the terrible Boxer movement.

Morrison First Missionary.

Robert Morrison, an Englishman, was the first Protestant missionary to China, reaching Canton September 7, 1807. This was destined to become a mighty day in Chinese history. For 17 years he endured privation, hostility from foreign traders, Catholic priests and Chinese en masse, until the publication of his Chinese dictionary of five volumes. In later years the translation of the Bible into Chinese by himself and William Milne was a great head a long list of noble Protestant workers whose influence is now apparent in the dynamic upheaval of the nation.

Organized, concerted Protestant missionary work in China began after the treaty of 1860 ended the war of Britain and France against China, and opened many new treaty ports to foreigners. Americans, Britishers, and Germans began to flock in, and later the Scandinavians added their quota. Within four years, 200 foreign Protestant missionaries representing 24 different denominations of mission boards were zealously at work at the 13 treaty ports, and about 20 outlying
